Movie about Youth with Disabilities

Crip Camp-(available on Netflix) is a documentary moving about a group of disabled kids who attended a radical disability-centered summer camp in the 1970's and grew up to establish a disability justice civil rights movement leading to the passage of the Americans with Disabilities Act in the 1990s. This film has some mature content that is not appropriate for youth, but is excellent background for adults. Judy Heumann, who is featured in the film, is also a guest speaker in the first webinar in the State of Oregon series below.
